

Hard Work Pays Off

Tamaria Primm in June of 2018 when she was inquiring about the LPN training program at Reid State Technical College and expressed interest of becoming an RN as her long-term goal. At the time she was working as a Certified Nursing Assistant at Monroe Manor in Monroeville. I became her case manager in the Fall of 2018.

She began the training program on August 20, 2018 and completed the training program on August 9, 2019 where she was pinned in the picture below. After graduation she took her NCLEX exam and her license was issued in September 2019.

Primm was motivated and determined to get her LPN license despite working a full-time job, caring for her 17 month old son, and handling the rigors of nursing school. Her hard work has paid off. Now she works as a nurse instead of a CNA at Monroe Manor in Monroeville. “I could not have done it without the financial assistance /training scholarship from WIOA and the Monroeville Career Center, Primm said.
